

Combating Homelessness Among Veterans

The Washington DC Veterans Affairs Medical Center's Community Resource and Referral Center exemplifies the Medical Center's commitment to providing excellent care and services in an environment of compassion that respects homeless and at-risk Veterans.

The CRRC is the first of its kind in the Washington, DC area. It serves as a 24/7 hub to combat homelessness among Veterans. It is one of 17 Centers the Department of Veterans Affairs plans to strategically locate across the nation. These facilities centralize federal and local partners to provide services to homeless and at-risk Veterans.

A Collaborative Effort

The Community Resource and Referral Center links Veterans and their families to diverse community partners aimed at ending homelessness and promoting community reintegration and independence. This collaborative center, located in the heart of Washington, DC, represents a major milestone in support of the Department of Veterans Affairs' goal of ending homelessness among Veterans by the year 2015.

Although not a shelter, the CRRC provides services to assist Veterans and their family members. The building includes a Primary Care Clinic, a complete kitchen, laundry and shower facilities and a play room for children. The center offers a host of other community resources and services. (Please note that not all offices are open 24/7.)
